Kiana's academic journey is a testament to her intellectual curiosity and determination. She excelled as a research assistant in multiple psychology labs, contributing significantly to projects leading to numerous national presentations and a co-authored paper in Teaching of Psychology. This research holds significant potential to shed light on communication dynamics in our divided society. As an outstanding teaching assistant and statistics consultant she has provided invaluable support to her peers and fellow graduate students, fostering an environment of learning and collaboration. Kiana looks forward to beginning her career as a Research and Data Analyst in the California government or the public health sector to help "move the needle" for progress, prosperity, and well-being in the Valley and beyond.

Undergraduate Dean's Medalist

His talent and dedication have positioned him well for competitive fellowships and he is currently interviewing for admission to highly regarded Ph.D. programs in Computer Science.
