

College of Science and Mathematics

2026

Greetings, Science and Mathematics Graduates!

Welcome to the 2026 College of Science and Mathematics Commencement! Today is a special day and we are gathered to celebrate your accomplishments and look forward to what you will achieve in the future.

All of you have worked exceptionally hard to learn, to master difficult new material, and to develop yourselves as STEM professionals and human beings. I hope you are proud of what you have accomplished in your time at Fresno State. You have done amazing work, and we are exceptionally proud of all of you. Each of you has brought a unique perspective and set of talents to your education, and I am confident that you will make unique contributions to your professional fields.

We faculty have been privileged to teach you and witness your inspiring growth and transformation. We have worked hard to provide you with the best education we can, and you have worked equally hard to learn. Together, we have created an exceptional academic community.

As the future leaders of science, technology, engineering and mathematics, you are needed now more than ever. The world faces complex and pressing social problems related to food, water, energy, health, the environment, and sustainability that are critical to the Central Valley ecosystem and beyond. All of you will make important contributions to building a better future for our community and our planet.

We wish you all great success as you head into a career in the STEM workforce, professional program or graduate school. Be bold, kind, and creative. Work hard, have fun, and respect each other - and always be your best. You are always welcome back and we hope you will stay in touch with us so we can continue to celebrate your success and the pursuit of excellence.

Excelsior!

Graduate Dean's Medalist
Ayuba Abaka
Biology

Ayuba Abaka of Yola, Nigeria, earned his M.S. in Biology with a 4.0 GPA. He is a graduate research assistant and teaching associate in the Biology Department. He has volunteered as a student assistant for the Black Excellence in Science and Technology Club and served as a mentor judge at the National Diversity in STEM Conference. Growing up in an agricultural community, Abaka developed an early interest in using biological science to solve practical problems of plant diseases in countries where chemical pesticides are prohibitively expensive. The loss of his stepbrother to sickle cell anemia expanded his interests to developing solutions for diseases in humans. Abaka's research at Fresno State focused on using CRISPR gene editing technology for detecting cancer. Abaka has published several research papers in peer-reviewed journals and has presented at scientific conferences, including being the sole graduate student oral presenter at the Conference for Emerging Black Academics in STEM (CEBAS) at the California Institute of Technology. Abaka plans to pursue a Ph.D. in biology at UC Merced, where he will join a research project on genetic factors in valley fever, and he hopes to launch a biotech startup to create home diagnostic tools for early cancer detection.

Undergraduate Dean's Medalist
Isaac Ramos
Mathematics

Isaac Ramos, of Madera, earned his B.S. in Mathematics with an integrated teaching credential and earned a 3.97 GPA. Mathematics Teaching Scholar, California Teaching Fellows Foundation Scholar, National Science Foundation Noyce Scholar, Cal-Bridge Scholar, Math Alliance Scholar, STEM Teacher and Researcher Fellow and California Teaching Fellows Foundation Scholar. He has served as president of the Mathematics Club for two consecutive years and vice president of the Fresno State chapter of the Society for Industrial and Applied Mathematics. He has worked at Fresno State as an instructional student assistant, Match Circle leader and instructional student assistant department liaison. Ramos originally intended to become a high school mathematics teacher, but during his studies he has become increasingly interested in methods of math education, and he is now interested in becoming a math instruction educator and training the next generation of teachers. Ramos has conducted research in math instruction assessment and placement and has presented at numerous conferences. Ramos intends to pursue a master's degree in mathematics at Fresno State while substitute teaching for Fresno Unified and intends to earn a Ph.D. in mathematics education.

MENTORSHIP ALLIANCE FOR STUDENT SUCCESS (MASS)

The CSM Mentorship Alliance for Student Success (MASS) program is composed of undergraduate peer mentors who support CSM first-time freshmen. The support provided is designed to ensure that students are adjusting well to campus life as they make the transition from high school to the university.

CENTER FOR ACCESS TO SCIENCE FOR ALL (CASA)

Center for Access to Science for All CASA provides a supportive environment and resources for students interested in science, technology, engineering, mathematics and/or targeted health professions. The center is home to multiple university and grant-funded programs, including the Health Careers Opportunity Program (HCOP), the Health Professions Pathways Program (HPPP) and CSU STEM Pathways and Research Alliance (CSU-SPaRA).
